

“

I first became interested in joining the Council on the Statue of Women after learning about Jean Jew's story and felt I could use my skills to help create a safe and inclusive campus, with abundant resources and structures ensuring accountability. Much of my personal and professional work has centered around gender justice, including environmental racism and natural hair discrimination.

Peter Larson

American Studies Student
CSW Member since 2021

